

INSIGHT

Apply to Jane Street's London INSIGHT Programme!

This April, we're inviting students who identify as women, transgender, and gender-expansive to spend three days in our office learning more about what we do and how we do it through a set of trading and programming classes and activities. Attendees will receive an in-depth look into the ways we use math and computer science across our firm to solve problems and foster collaborative thinking.

INSIGHT has three different program tracks students can apply for: software engineering, trading, and business development.

No prior knowledge of finance is necessary — only an eagerness to learn and enthusiasm about mathematics and computer science.
